ESUMES LECTURES ON HOLY LAND TOUR

ev. R. L. McLeod, Jr., Takes Up Again Discourses on Trip o Bible Lands—Bethlehem nd Hebron Described.

After an intermission of several eeks, Rev. Robert L. McLeod, ., pastor of the First Presbyterin Church, resumed on last Sunay evening his series of disurses on the Holy Lands, visited y him in 1924. His Sunday evenng lecture follows:

Bethlehem and Hebron.

(By Robet. L. McLeod, Jr.)

It has been several weeks since y last article on the lands of the ible. You will remember that we nished seeing the Holy City, erusalem, in the last article. Now r the next two articles we will ravel to those towns and villages roundabout" Jerusalem. These laces are fully as interesting as the Holy City.

The trip to Bethlehem was made a Buick automobile in a short ime, for Bethlehem is only seven miles from Jerusalem with almost erfect roads. Leaving Jerusalem y the Jaffa Gate we soon passed hrough the suburbs of the city nd out upon the rolling hills. About half a mile from the city imits we passed old trenches that were made by Allenby during the world war and that had not then been filled. Nearby were great piles of barb-wire that had been used between the trenches. Here and there could be seen depressions in the ground made by exploding shells when warfare was going on, which resulted in the capture of Jerusalem. We were shown two wells a little distanec farther on, one they claimed to have been the well from which the Holy family drank on their way to Egypt, the other from which the Magi drank and while drinking saw reflected in the water the star, of which they had temporarily lost sight.

Four miles from Jerusalem to the right is seen the Tomb of Rachael, much visited by pilgrims and reverenced by Christians, Moslems and Jews alike. There is however no evidence of the authenticity of this site. But each day Moslems can be seen looking through the barred windows and making prayers to their Saint. From this point onward can be seen the city of

Bethlehem

The name Bethlehem means literally "Place of Bread", probably from the fact that the region around it offers such a marked contrast to the adjacent Judean wilderness. In Bible it is associated with the lovely romance of Ruth and the youthful home life

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

The Berean Bible Class of the First Baptist Church of Grenada is again reminded of the uncertainty of life and of the certainty of death in the taking away of one its most loyal, faithful, and devoted members in the person of Mr. J. C. Perry, being a charter member, also the distinction of being the oldest of the class, who was called to the other world on the morning of January, 19th, 1929.

Therefore Be it Resolved, That we mourn the loss of our departed friend and Brother, and that we shall strive to gather up the many good things for which he stood and the spirit of the many noble things which he did to enrich our own lives and to use for the betterment of our church life, our town and community.

Be it Further Resolved, That we shall miss Brother Perry in his readiness to take part in the discussions that came up in the class from time to time and that we shall try to learn our Bible so well that we may be able to talk as convincingly and as intelligently about the Word of God as he did.

Resolved Further, That we tender to the family our sincere and affectionate sympathy, and that we commend to them in this their great sorrow, a most frequent and fervent communion with Him who taketh knowledge of all things and who numbereth the very hairs on our heads.

Be it Further Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be given to the family of our departed Brother, and that a copy be spread upon the minutes of this class.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

As to the possibility of prohibition enforcement, I agree with the statement made by Mr. Thomas A. Edison that it can be enforced reasonably well if proper effort is made, and that it is already better enforced than some of our other laws, as for example the law against narcotics and the law against hold-ups. I think Mr. Edison also gave tersly and truly the answer to the contention that this law should be repealed because it is an encroachment upon personal liberty. He said, as reported: "What is civilization anyway but a restraint on personal liberty? If liberty were to run wild we would have no advancement. Civilization improves as we curb liberty in the interest of the general welfare."—Bishop Wm. T. Manning.

PRICES ARE REDUCED ON DODGE BROTHERS SENIORS

Substantial price reductions on all models in the Dodge Brothers Senior Six line were announced today by Meek Motor Co., local Dodge Brothers dealers .

The new price schedule goes into effect immediately.

The models on which reductions have been made include the two and four-door sedans, landau sedan, two-passenger coupe and roadster. The new prices now range from $1495 for the two-door sedan to $1595 for the landau sedan. Proportionate reductions have been made on the four-door sedan, coupe and roadster.

The Senior Six was the first creation of the Dodge Brothers division of Chrysler Motors under the directing genius of Walter P. Chrysler and was introduced soon after the Dodge interests were acquired by the Chrysler organization. It is the largest and finest product of Dodge Brothers craftsmanship, styled to the newest vogue in custom design.

Describes Moon Feast Observed By Chinese

Minister Writes from China Telling of Annual Celebration of Orientals Honoring Moon Goddess.

Editor Sentinel:

Here comes another letter from the "bottom side of the world". It may be of interest to the readers of your most excellent paper.

We have recently had one of China's chief holidays. For more than a week I noticed signs of its coming. Great stacks of "mooncakes" in brightly colored packets were shown in many stores. Beautiful lanterns were seen along the streets. Everything was in such gay style it made one think of a coming Christmas. It was the Chinese Moon-feast and Mid Autumn Festival. In their feasting it recalled our Thanksgiving Day.

The Chinese 15th of the 8th month is called "Tsoong Tsiu"—Middle Autumn. On that day they have theatricals before all the gods in the temple and burn the "Shaung-teo" — incense bushel. This bushel-like measure is made of incense sticks. The largest "bushels" sometimes measure as much as 20 feet in diameter. In the middle of the "bushel" is a long, large stick of incense made up of thousands of thin incense sticks the size of vermicelli. On the afternoon and night of this day each family also burns an incense bushel at home. These are smaller than the ones burned in the temple. On this day they who can so afford eat moon-cakes and all kinds of nice things. The incense bushel is decorated with flags and many colored dragon gates something as children at home put candles on their birthday cakes; but the children in China take the flags and dragon-gate decorations from the bushel before it is burnt, and have great delight in playing with these, marching up and down the streets.

I asked the Cinese why they burn the incense bushel and eat the moon-cake, and worship the moon with candles, incense and food on this day. They answered that there are many reasons for it and many stories are told about it. One of the reasons is because

D. L. HOLCOMB CELEBRATES 85th BIRTDAY JANUARY 27th

The many friends of Mr. D. L. Holcomb, of Holcomb, joy with him and his family that he has been spared to celebrate his 85th birthday which was last Sunday, January 27. Immediate relatives and a few friends were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Holcomb that day in honor of this important event in the life of one of the oldest, best and most worthy citizens of Grenada County.

Mr. Holcomb is yet vigorous of mind, and is unusually active for a man of his years. He has, until a very few years ago, led an active outdoor life. He has been up and about his affairs and has been for many years a potent and a leading factor in the business affairs of that section of the county. He has made a business of farming, yet he has kept a keen and alert eye on other things and his labors and efforts have been rewarded with far more than usual success. While looking after the busy things of life, Mr. Holcomb has not forgotten or overlooked the most important thing of all—and that is the culture of his soul and the doing of those things which the Christians believe mean the laying up of treasures where moth and rust will not corrupt and which cannot be stolen. Mr. Holcomb has met the Biblical standard of first thinking of those of his own household, nevertheless he has been generous in those things that bring sunshine and gladness to the distressed and to the unfortunate wayfarer along life's highway.

When one ponders a moment to think how far 85 years reach back and the things that have transpired in the history of the United States during that time, the mind almost staggers. He was born the year that James K. Polk was elected president. The Mexican, the Civil, the Spanish-American and the World War have all been fought during his life time. He came to Mississippi when every traveler had to blaze his own pathway; he came here when there were no railroads; he came here when steamboats carried the heavy commerce of the country; he came here when there were no steam gins and when the horse gin and the old compass cotton press served the farmers; he came here when cotton seed were regarded as almost nuisances and when they were often piled up to the eaves of the roofs of gin houses. He has lived to see the steam cotton gin, followed by the cotton compress; he has lived to see railroads all over the land. He has lived to see good dirt highways followed by graveled and concrete highways. He came here when those of the rural sections had their postoffice maybe twenty or thirty miles away, and when someone in the neighborhood brought the mail out and distributed as opportunity offered in the community. He has lived to see the telegraph and the telephone and the rural mail route; he has lived to see the old tallow candle superseded by the oil lamp and that by the electric light. Hundreds of other things might be enumerated which were and which have come on during his life time ad infinitum, but this is sufficient. To say that he has had a wonderful experience but states the events of the eighty-five years of his life only partially. There are others of whom the same thing can be said, but they are rare.

The Sentinel is glad that Mr. Holcomb is still enjoying the blessings of health of body and mind and joins with his family and friends in congratulating him and in hoping that he may yet have many years to watch the passing throng of this eventful age.

PERRY HOWARD HAS BIG BANK DEPOSITS

Negro Republican National Committeeman from Mississippi Reported to Have $31,000 above Salary on Deposit in Washington.

Washington, Jan. 30—Department of justice reports that Perry Howard, suspended assistant attorney general and Republican national committeeman for Mississippi, had deposits in two accounts here of more than $31,000 above his salary over a period of 18 months, were placed before the senate patronage investigating committee today.

Howard, a negro, was recently acquitted of a charge of selling postmasterships in Mississippi.

In the Howard deposits, the department of justice reported it had found two checks for $500 drawn on a Clarksdale, Miss. bank. Miller E. McGilchrist, of the department, said one check was signed by Mrs. C. A. Whittington, of Tutwiler, Miss., and was dated June 23, 1927, the same day on which Howard recommended her as acting postmistress at Tutwiler. The other check, he said, was drawn against the account of John H. Cook, United States attorney in Mississippi.

McGilchrist said that an inquiry showed that Cook had explained that he lent the $500 to the husband of Mrs. Whittington and was later repaid.

Chairman Brookhart of the committee remarked that "this seems like a high price for a postmastership in such a small town."

The justice department reported also that John T. Risher, who shares an office with Howard here had deposited about $14,000 in banks here between January 1, 1927, and October, 1927.

Senator McKellar, Tennessee, demanded that Attorney General Sargent be summoned before the committee "to tell why this man Howard has not been discharged."

The department investigator then produced a $250 check drawn by A. P. Russell, former postmaster at Magee, Miss. Senator Brookhart produced a receipt for $50 from Magee given by the Republican national committee. "It looks like $250 paid for this office," Brookhart said, "but only $50 of it got to the national committee.

Gilchrist said that Howard made a bank deposit of $4,000 in December, 1925, "apparently," from the Pullman Company. He said this was at the time railroads were having trouble with the negro porters.

"What was an employe of the government doing on the payroll of the Pullman Company?" asked Mr. McKellar. "Why hasn't he been discharged?"

"I don't know," was the answer.

"Well, we will call the attorney general and find out," the senator said.

"He was found not guilty by a jury," Senator Brookhart interposed.

Brookhart then read reports from Mississippi papers concerning the trial of Howard. One paper, he said, carried the statement that "white supremacy is less endangered under Howard than under some white men."

Grea[illegible] Bishop Talks Abo[illegible] Moral Trend

Says [illegible]d of Crime Overflowi[illegible] Country Is Alarming—Thinks Opulence Begets Luxury and Consequent Lawlessness Ending in National Decay—Says Many of the Wealthy Brazenly and Truculently Lawless—Gives Definition of Gaming.

The ablest and most prominent men of the country continue to discuss through the press and from public platforms the moral conditions of the nation, which most thinking people agree is menacing to the future of the Republic. It is pointed out that the crimes of theft, murder, embezzlement, graft and the breaking of so many marital obligations are among the many evidences of what is believed by many to be a hazardous aspect of an alarming per cent of the American people. It is generally agreed that the race for money, the accumulation of wealth, and an overweaning desire and effort to have a "good time", and to refuse to think or meditate on the fundamentals of integrity and old time honesty, are among the chief causes for the much discussed moral breakdown.

Bishop Warren A. Candler, of the Southern Methodist Church, had an article in a recent issue of the New Orleans Christian Advocate in which he discussed the trend of the life of the country. The Bishop is regarded as one of the South's great leaders. The Sentinel therefore feels that it is doing a good service in passing what he said along to its readers.

The following is the Bishop's article:

The flood of crime overflowing our country is alarming, notwithstanding all efforts to minimize it and explain it away. That it has greatly increased during recent years will not be denied, except by blind optimists who would not be optimists at all if they were not blind.

Crimes committed to obtain money and crimes of blood are especially prevalent. Often these two offenses are mingled in one; murder is done to obtain money. Men and women are slain for mammonistic motives of the most sordid nature. The man in charge of a filling station that is kept open day and night, is the mark for the attacks of criminals ready to kill for small sums. Such a man serves in a position more perilous than a picket on guard in the army.

Along with these murderous assaults, which abound in all sections of the land, defalcations and embezzlements are reported daily.

Another manifestation of criminal covetousness which is constantly in evidence is shameless and almost limitless gambling. Men and women lay wagers on

ROTARY HEARS MRS. HILL

At its meeting Tuesday noon, the Grenada Rotary Club enjoyed hearing two songs beautifully sung by Mrs. Frank S. Hill. Mrs. Hill never fails to please any audience before which she sings and at no time does she bring more pleasure to her hearers than when she entertains the Rotarians.

Judge John F. Allen, presiding over the term of circuit court now in session here, complimented the club on the fact that Grenada county's criminal docket is the lightest this time of any court over which he had presided in the past six years. The judge said, too, that Grenada county enjoyed the reputation of being among the best in the state for law observance, as attested by its usually small number of criminal cases.

Rotarian P. T. Lagrone, of the Cleveland Rotary Club, was a guest at the luncheon and he spoke briefly of activities in the delta section.

Mr. B. H. Johnston, father of Rotarian Erle Johnston, was also a guest at the luncheon.

W. D. Salmon urged Rotarians to attend the showing at the Grenada Theatre Wednesday night of the pictures taken by John Borden and party during their trip to Alaska. He announced that Mr. Borden would make a talk on various features of the trip and he promised the club that it would be an extremely worthwhile evening for them.

Rev. R. L. McLeod mentioned the leaving of Scoutmaster, Rev. R. W. Emerson, and he urged that the selection of his successor be given serious consideration at once, pointing out the reasons why a leader for the boy scouts should be chosen immediately.

President Andrew Carothers made a most satisfactory explanation of the misunderstanding leading to the failure of the Grenada club to deliver the district governor's shield to Water Valley last Friday.

COTTON REPORT

There were 8,800 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Grenada County, from the crop of 1928 prior to January 16, 1929, as compared with 6,788 bales ginned to January 16, 1928.

WINTER COURT TERM ADJOURNS THURSDAY

Judge John F. Allen Presides over Term Grenada County Circuit Court—Grand Jury Ends Its Session—Many Indicted Submit.

The January term of circuit court in Grenada county convened Monday morning, Jan. 28th, with Judge John F. Allen, of Kosciusko, presiding. Hon. David E. Crawley, the able and vigorous prosecuting attorney who has been so successful in the prosecution of criminal cases over the district, has had the splendid cooperation of Hon. Sam C. Mims, Jr., himself a good prosecutor, county prosecuting attorney, in the handling of cases for the state.

After the impaneling of the juries, Judge Allen delivered his charge to the grand jury in which he intelligently presented to them the matters which they should investigate.

Those selected as grand jurors were T. E. Heath, foreman, W. L. Goza, C. M. Anderson, H. C. Childs, Burns Mitchell, J. P. Arnold, E. C. Neelly, Gaines Moore, J. W. McCormick, W. O. Geeslin, David Townsend, J. F. Gibbs, R. E. Christopher, R. L. Floyd, W. C. Keelin, Talbert Turner, C. O. Cohea, W. W. Koonce, W. W. Rounsaville and Richard Latham.

Petit jury number 1 is made up of B. J. Anderson, W. E. Ables, Ira Rounsaville, Joe Ward, Vernon Maxey, S. L. Bosworth, J. T. Williams, W. R. Merritt, C. M. Geeslin, C. D. Gibson, H. A. Patterson and W. C. Jacks.

Petit jury number 2 is composed of J. L. Tharpe, G. R. Mitchell, Louis Cunningham, S. A. Neal, R. A. Gray, J. F. Thomason, M. O. Gray, W. B. Rook, G. E. Chamberlain, Dave Childers and D. A. Williams.

Up to Thursday morning the grand jury had returned true bills against Harvey Schmitz, N. B. Paxton, Clyde Rounsaville, Louis Liles and Charlie Dyer for grand larceny. Schmitz escaped from jail several weeks ago and is still at liberty. The others, when arraigned, submitted their cases.

Walter Antos and Frank Sobo, Greeks, indicted for the burglary of railroad freight cars, entered pleas of guilty.

Lloyd Goad and Floyd Frost were indicted for petit larceny and, when arraigned, the former entered a plea of guilty and the latter's plea was not guilty.

A number of suits on the civil docket have taken the greater part of the time of the court and the docket is being rapidly cleared.

The cases against Augusta Wiggins, James Clark and others, charged with arson in connection with the burning of the town of Holcomb in August, 1927, were passed to the files.

The case against these men constitutes one of those inexplicable things that juries and courts sometimes do. The same testimony that was before the jury that convicted John Howard and upon which verdict he was sentenced to the penitentiary for ten years, was before the jury when Wiggins was tried at the last summer term of the court and which resulted in a mistrial. It would appear that if Wiggins is not guilty neither is Howard, however, this is not intended as a criticism of Howard's conviction or of the dismissal of the case against Wiggins.

A case of some interest was that of Charlie Osborn vs. Grover Cunningham in which Osborn was seeking a verdict against Cunningham for what he claimed was still due on a mortgage of $350. which Cunningham had executed to him. Osborn claimed that $175.00 was still due him. Cunningham had a receipt for $175.00, and he claimed to have paid the whole debt. The court gave a peremptory instruction in favor of Cunningham. One of the unusual features of the case was that Osborn had secured a permit from Gov. Bilbo to return to the state to attend this trial. The reading public of this section remembers that Osborn was convicted in this county some two or more years ago for operating a still and sentenced to the penitentiary for three years. He had hardly been in the pen more than eight months until Gov. Dennis Murphree pardoned him upon the condition that he leave the state never to return. Osborn, it appears, returned home upon assurances of Gov. Bilbo's friends that he would not be molested but he was again taken in custody and again sent to the state farm at Parchman, whereupon Gov. Bilbo, after his induction into office, gave him the same sort of pardon that Gov. Murphree did. On the witness stand in the Cunningham case, he stated that he is now residing at some point in Arkansas.

The grand jury submitted its final report Thursday afternoon and court adjourned shortly after the grand jury was discharged.

STATE'S INDEBTEDNESS REACHES $140,043,776

Through a desire on the part of State Auditor Carl C. White to reckon the outstanding obligations of Mississippi—the state and all counties, districts and municipalities—a full compilation of indebtedness by counties has been prepared by that department of the state government.

Auditor White shows that the debt due by the state and its subdivisions is $140,043,776.13. Subtotals making up the gross indebtedness are as follows: State bonds, $24,000,000; state short term notes, $4,000,000; aggregate bonded indebtedness of counties, districts and municipalities, $109,505,163.46; temporary loans to counties and subdivisions, $2,538,612.67.

In the cases of 16 counties, portions of the indebtedness is estimated, due to the non-receipt of reports from county clerks. In such cases, the totals were reached through estimates based on previous reports.

Whitaker Publishes Letter From Neill

Communication from Head of Farm Bureau Cotton Association about Fertilizer Given to Public.

In last week's Sentinel appeared a communication from Dr. W. H. Whitaker, in which he charged that the Mississippi Farm Bureau Cotton Association and the Farm Extension Forces had joined together in an attempt to penalize the farmers of any county not employing county agents. Dr. Khitaker stated that he would ask The Sentinel this week to publish his letter to Mr. Neill, of the former organization, and Mr. Neill's reply thereto. But since then, Dr. Whitaker states that his letter in The Sentinel last week and his letter to Mr. Neill were so similar, that he is asking the publication of Mr. Neill's reply only. It follows:

Jackson, Miss., Jan. 23, 1929.

Dr. W. H. Whitaker,
Grenada, Miss.

Dear Dr. Whitaker:

I read your letter of January 20th with much interest and in reply desire to outline the plan which the directors of our Cotton Association and Farm Bureau Federation have authorized in the correlation of the two services:

First, let it be understood that the Farm Bureau service, such as cooperative purchase of fertilizer and other commodities together with marketing miscellaneous farm products, have been, and are now handled by County Farm Bureau organizations.

Second, the Cotton Association is a separate organization from the Farm Bureau, its functions being receiving, pooling, handling and marketing its members' cotton.

More than a year ago, we conceived the idea of localizing the cotton marketing service and correlating this service with the county farm bureau programs. This correlation has been developed in approximately twenty counties through the cooperation of the county agents and local boards of directors of county farm bureaus. The fundamental principles in the development of this correlated service may be outlined as follows:

First, To localize the Cotton Association service.

Second, To reduce overhead cost of both Cotton Association and Farm Bureau Service.

Third, To develop local leadership amongst farmers and business men in the advancement of both services.

The question of the advisability of developing this correlated service in counties that do not have the active leadership of a county agent, is a very important one. We have found, particularly with regard to farm bureau service, in those counties where an attempt was made to develop this service without the leadership of a county agent and local organization, it has failed.

We have discussed this problem fully with the director, state and district agents of the Extension Department of A. & M. College, and believe that if this great organization, whose function is service to Mississippi agriculture will make this correlated business service as outlined by our organizations a part of its program, and give it leadership and direction, that the program will be much stronger than otherwise.

Please understand that the Cotton Association as an organization, has never pooled purchased and delivered fertilizer for its members. This has been, and will continue to be a function of the Farm Bureau Federation, which is a regular chartered corporation under the laws of Mississippi.

Let us assume that the farmers in Grenada County have a definite farm bureau organization with a board of directors, under the leadership of a county agent. Under these conditions this organization is eligible to membership in the State Farm Bureau Federation and as such would receive the services from the Farm Bureau office.

We have found in six years experience, that without the leadership of a county agent, it is almost impossible to develop a farm bureau organization and program of service.

Appreciating always your cooperation and counsel, I am,

Yours for service
C. L. NEILL

TRUE CENSUS SHOWS 4784 PEOPLE HERE

Young Men's Business Club Completes Enumeration of Grenada's Population—Tabulation Shows Over 4500.

Four thousand seven hundred eighty-four people reside in Grenada, according to an accurate census just completed by the Grenada Young Men's Business Club under the direction of F. R. Lickfold, Jr., chairman of the census committee. These figures include only those people residing within the corporate limits and it is a well known fact that many families reside just outside the corporation line.

The way the census was taken there was hardly any chance for anyone to escape enumeration. The town was divided into sections and each section was allotted to a separate committee who made a thorough canvass of their particular district. Upon completion of their enumeration the blanks were turned in to Mr. Lickfold, the chairman, who totaled them.

The census of 1920, taken by government enumerators, credited Grenada with a population of 3401. Grenada has been claiming anywhere from 4000 to 5000 inhabitants, according to the enthusiasm of the one making the claim. Now Grenadians may assert with conviction just exactly how many people live here and there can be no grounds for disputing the assertion.

Various projects are under discussion here now that, if carried through, will considerably increase the number of residents in the town and things look indeed rosy for Grenada to be credited with a great many more than 4784 when the government begins its enumeration next year.

GREAT NUMBER VIEWS BORDEN ARCTIC FILMS

A great crowd witnessed the showing at the Grenada Theatre Wednesday night of the pictures taken of the cruise of the "Northern Light", the ship on which Mr. and Mrs. John Borden and a party of friends visited Arctic waters in 1927. In addition to five reels of motion pictures, many slides showing scenes viewed by the party during its trip were exhibited.

In presenting Mr. Borden to the audience, Hon. W. S. P. Doty, mayor of Grenada, was most flattering and complimentary in his remarks and he spoke in the highest terms of Grenada's appreciation of what Mr. Borden has done for this section since he became a landowner here. He mentioned also the great scientific contributions that resulted from the "Northern Light's" cruise.

During the showing of the slides and the pictures Mr. Borden explained the various scenes and commented most interestingly on the high points of the cruise. What he had to say made the pictures doubly interesting to the audience and he had his hearers' undivided attention throughout the entertainment. Mrs. Borden was a most interested spectator.

The pictures, taken by Mrs. R. B. Slaughter, a member of the party, were as fine as any ever presented here and showed that she is a past master in the technique of motion picture making. Every feature of the pictures was clear and distinct and one experienced no difficulty in following the thread of the story intended to be presented.

The life and customs of the peoples of the far North were interestingly explained to the audience, both by Mr. Borden's remarks and by the pictures. Fine specimens of walruses, bears and other game, killed by Mr. and Mrs. Borden and others on the cruise, were shown. Most of the specimens may be seen now in the Field Museum in Chicago.

The "Northern Light" was commanded by Mr. Borden and was manned by a crew of eight sea scouts, Chicago youths between 16 and 21 years of age, who proved themselves expert seafarers before the cruise ended. The ship sailed from San Francisco and touched various points along the coasts of Canada, Alaska and Siberia before reaching its destination, Wrangel Island, in the Arctic Ocean. The ship followed the ice pack as it receded into waters farther north. The party spent about a month on the island before boarding ship for the return voyage.

A part of the proceeds from the entertainment went to the United Charities and quite a nice sum was realized.

SOUTH'S FUTURE PROGRESS DEPENDS ON HORSE POWER

"It is the power that lies in generated electricity, power that moves the machinery of the New South's great industries. It is the power that lies in her mountain torrents, in her rivers, in her coal deposits, in her voluminous natural gas. It is the power that constitutes one of the fundamental reasons for the New South's startling industrial growth today. In itself, it is one of the South's greatest resources, already developed to an amazing point of efficiency and economy - and still possibly the least developed of all these resources. For no living man can estimate with any degree of accuracy the extent of power yet undeveloped in the borders of the Southern states", writes Arthur Coleman in the current issue of Holland's, The Magazine of the South.

Mr. Coleman goes on to say, "Industry is moving Southward. It is moving in ever-increasing numbers, and with greater and greater swiftness. And to meet the demands of industry, power must be developed; for power is the sinew of industry. And this explains, possibly, why in the past 20 years the South has shown an increase in developed horsepower of 178 per cent, while the remainder of the United States has shown only 105 per cent increase. It is the reason why the developed water power in the South today is 24 per cent of the Nation's total. It is the reason for the increase, since January 1, 1927, of approximately a quarter million horsepower in the installed capacity of Southern hydroelectric plants, representing as it does more than 41 per cent of the entire country's aggregate gain for that period.

"It is the reason which ultimately will justify, in all probability the existence in the South of approximately 100,500 square miles of coal land, its five-billion-barrel oil reserves, its untold natural gas supply, and its vast water-power resources. For the South, with its mountains and its valleys, and resulting swift and husky streams and rivers, is going in rather extensively for water-power development. The South is fond of power. It needs power; and as time goes on, can use more and more. For staggering as has been the progress of the South during the past six decades, it is but a beginning - a forewarning of the greatness to follow."

APPEAL TO REASON
There are so many people who have the impression that Chiropractic is good only for nervous disorders and curvatures of the spine. This is far from the fact.
Chiropractic has been of service in all manner of disorders. This is true because the nerves which pass thru the spine supply all the organs of the body. Disease in those organs are caused by spinal disorder which produces pressure on the nerves which supply them.
The Chiropractor removes that pressure, thus permitting normal function and nature does the healing.
To preserve health is a moral and religious duty, for health is the basis for all social virtues. We can no longer be useful when not well.

Middle Life Troubles

"About twenty years ago, my health was very bad," says Mrs. Mat Howard, of Terrell, Texas. "I was passing through a critical time in my life, and I suffered a great deal. I was not at all strong, and my nerves got all upset. I had hot flashes, and sometimes would get suddenly so faint I could not stand up. My head would whirl, and I could not see a thing. I would have to lie down for hours at a time.

"I improved so much after I had taken Cardui for a while. I continued the medicine for some months, until I had passed the critical period. Since then, I have given Cardui to my five daughters. All of them have continued the use of Cardui in their homes. We have all been better for having taken it."

One who has used it remarked:—"When I was in my teens, I became much in need of a medicine to give me strength and I was advised that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was the best remedy I could take, so I took but a small amount of this tonic and received the desired result. I can truthfully say I believe the 'Favorite Prescription' is perfectly safe and reliable and that it will do all that is claimed for it."—Mrs. D. Justice, 404 S. 3rd St., Monroe, La.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—What the Bible Is For.

I. The Scriptures Are Divinely Inspired. (II. Tim. 3:16).

The first thing to be settled concerning the Canonical Scriptures is their inspiration and authority. In the Scriptures God is at "sundry times and in divers manners" speaking to man (Heb. 1:1). Paul in this passage declares them to be "God breathed," meaning that the utterances of Holy Writ were God's breath in men's mouths. The Holy Scriptures do not merely contain the Word of God, but are in verity the message of God to men.

The main cause of the moral breakdown of society is that men have been robbed of their faith in the Bible as the authoritative message from God.

II. The Value of the Scriptures (II Tim. 3:14-17).

1. Able to make wise unto salvation (v. 15).

Salvation is in Christ alone. It is secured through faith in His finished work on the cross. True wisdom leads to Christ crucified since there is none other name under heaven given among men whereby we must be saved (Acts 4:12), and without the shedding of blood there is no remission (Heb. 9:22).

2. Disciplines the life (vv. 16, 17)

In this "doctrine" is set forth the necessary standard of conduct. The only place to find the teaching of God is in His Holy Word. It not only sets forth a standard of life, but it reproves—confutes error. The way to deal with error is not by denunciation but with a positive presentation of truth. The Word corrects (sets straight the dislocation of personal and social conduct), instructs in righteousness, and equips for service.

III. The Nature and Effects of God's Law (Psa. 19:7-14).

1. Perfect.

It is without flaw; converts and restores the soul; turns man back to holiness and to God.

2. Sure.

It is absolutely dependable. God cannot lie. Man's reasoning changes, but God's Word endures forever. It makes wise the simple. Not only does it make wise unto salvation, but wise regarding the legitimate things of this world.

3. Right.

The precepts and judgments of the Lord are expressions of absolute righteousness. They fill the believer with rejoicing.

4. Pure.

There is in it no mixture of error. It makes no compromise with that which is untrue. Because of this it enlightens the eyes.

5. Clean.

The Word affects the life. Its cleansing is from within and from without.

6. True and righteous.

The decisions of God's Word are true, without exception. The judgments of God's Word are unimpeachable. Because of these qualities God's Word is more to be desired than the choicest gold. Obedience thereto brings great reward.

IV. The Prayer of the Believer (Psa. 19:12-14).

The life brought face to face with God's Word is seen as sinful. The soul cries out for

1. Cleansing (v. 12).

The perfect laws reveal the imperfections of the life. The Word of God reveals sins of which the individual may be ignorant (Isa. 6:5).

2. To be kept from presumptuous sin (v. 13).

Presumptuous, arrogant sins are peculiarly dangerous. In the Mosaic economy no sacrifice was provided for such sins.

3. Freedom from the dominion of such sins (v. 13).

How awful is the slavery of those who are in bondage to presumptuous sins.

4. That the words of the mouth and meditations of the heart be kept acceptable in God's sight. From how many dangers the believer would be freed if the words and meditations of the heart were kept in line with Holy Scripture.

10 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

From the Files of THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Campbell McLean reached home several days ago from the army. Campbell is one of the soldiers detailed to work in the spruce forests of the state of Washington and from all accounts the boys did work there that would test the strength of a sure enough cornfield negro.

Master John Talbert Salmon left Monday for Houston, Texas where he will spend some months with his aunt, Mrs. P. L. Russell. John was accompanied as far as Memphis by his father, W. D. Salmon.

Mr. W. D. Salmon, of the firm of Salmon & Kimbrough, was among those from Grenada in Memphis last Monday.

Mr. Wesley Evans, of Belzoni, and Miss Mattie Evans, of New Orleans, were in Grenada this week, the guests of their sister, Mrs. W. E. Smith.

Miss Mayme Rollins returned to her home in Louisville the latter part of last week after having spent a few days with her mother, Mrs. M. E. Rollins. Miss Rollins was accompanied by Mrs. Craddock Rule.

Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Shaw left the first of the week for St. Louis, Chicago and other points in the north to attend the spring millinery openings.

Miss Bessie Lay of Charleston, was in Grenada the latter part of last week, the guest of Miss Lillian Easter.

Rev. and Mrs. R. A. Tucker spent the first of the week in Memphis, the guests of Mrs. Tucker's brother.

Mrs. H. D. Lane, of Canton, spent last week in Grenada, the guest of relatives and friends.

BOY OF MINE

"In everything he looks to me;
In turn I look to thee for aid"

"Father, today I bring to thee
This boy of mine whom thou hast made;
In everything he looks to me;
In turn I look to thee for aid.

He knows not all that is before;
His little dreams of hidden snares;
He holds my hand, and o'er and o'er
I find myself beset with fears.

Father, as this boy looks up to me
For guidance and my help improves,
I bring him now in prayer to thee;
He trusts my strength and I trust yours.

Hold thou my hand as I hold his,
And so guide me that I may guide;
Teach me, Lord, that I may teach,
And keep me free from foolish pride.

Help me to help this boy of mine,
To be to him a father true;
Hold me, Lord, for everything,
As fast I hold my boy for you".—Selected

4-Door Sedan, $845 Body by Fisher

PEOPLE don't go around telling their neighbors, "I'm progressive. I'm looking for finer things." Yet neighbors have ways and means of knowing. And one of their surest signs is the family automobile.

That's why the New Pontiac Big Six offers so much to up-and-coming Americans. It represents progress. It embodies big car luxury, performance and style. It constitutes an impressive step up from lower-priced transportation.

The New Pontiac Big Six is a brand new car from beginning to end. It offers big car performance produced by a big, new L-head engine, accurately balanced rotating parts, new and silent internal-expanding four-wheel brakes, Hotchkiss drive and many additional mechanical features of equally high quality. It provides the style, comfort and luxury of a car 167 inches in overall length and equipped with masterly new bodies by Fisher. And what is more—it provides all these big car qualities at prices which make no great drain on the purse.

Prices $745 and up, f. o. b. factory, plus delivery charges. Bumpers and rear fender guards regular equipment at slight extra cost. Check Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices—they include lowest handling charges. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

NEED ANOTHER FEDERAL COURT DISTRICT.

The Sentinel thinks that the public interests would be subserved, and particularly that there would be a more expeditious handling of cases filed in the United States court of the state if there were created another district, in other words, if the state were cut into two districts, and an able lawyer and right sort of a man were appointed to be the judge of the new district.

According to official reports before congress, there are now pending in the various federal courts of the country, 21,000 indictments for violation of the prohibition laws, without mentioning much other litigation that awaits attention. Mississippi has her share of these clogged court dockets. One of the surest deterrents for crime is the certainty of a speedy trial. As it is today, the courts are compelled, in many cases, to permit those under indictment to be huddled before the bar of justice and to take pleas of "guilty" for the reason that haste needs to be made, and because of agreed verdicts in which leniency is promised.

Regardless of the court district and of the legal machinery, the matter of the greatest importance is the ability and the character of the judge who presides over the court. There is hardly an A. B. C. lawyer in the state who will say that there is a Republican in this part of the state who is even halfway capable of being a federal judge. This statement is made in all kindness to the few gentlemen in north Mississippi who claim to be Republicans and who have made a pretense of being lawyers. There is not a Republican in North Mississippi who has had an important case before any court and who showed any ability to handle litigation for years. The present U. S. district attorney is regarded as a fine man, but he has just devoted his time to other things than the law, and it is generally known that the assistant district attorney handles all matters which come before the court.

It is therefore fair to assume that the President knows all this and that he would name a Democrat. The President is not the sort of partisan who forgets the public interests in order to dispense patronage. Therefore what is here stated is based on the assumption that a lawyer of prominence and proved legal ability and one who has a judicial tempermament would be named to preside over the new district, and this, under the circumstances, would mean that a Democrat would be named.

We are confident that if left to violators of the Volstead Act and other breakers of federal laws, they would say "let the dockets of the court remain crowded, no new district for our business".

The house of representatives should in our judgment pass the bill which has already passed the senate to give Mississippi two federal court districts.

COOLIDGE'S SPEECH ON THE COUNTRY'S BUSINESS.

One thing that President Coolidge emphasized in his speech touching the business of the country delivered Tuesday night of this week is that we are going at a breakneck speed in spending, and that he believes that if we keep the gait we are going the country is just as certainly headed for the financial ditch as fate. The President views with alarm the mania that seems to obsess the land to spend more than is made.

One of the dark clouds on the financial horizon, as he views it, is the rapidly increasing cost of county and state governments. He gave figures showing that the cost of the governments of all the counties and all the states of the country in 1921 was $3,900,000,000, whereas in 1927 it was $7,931,000,000, or an increase in six years of over 100 per cent. The President speaks of this wild obsession to spend by the counties and the states as "the red flag warning us of the danger and a repetition of the disaster which overtook the country in 1920".

If we read the signs correctly, the spenders are not going to heed the President's timely warning. It is "on with the dance, let's have a good time".

HERBERT AND AL TETE-A-TETE.

It was the proper and the gracious thing for President-elect Hoover to invite Gov. Al Smith to call on him. These two gentlemen are now sojourning in Miami, daring the waters of the ocean and enjoying the sentiment of Florida's sunshine. It was the proper thing for Gov. Smith to accept President-elect Hoover's invitation. The meeting was evidently a very agreeable one. The action of these men shows that they are Americans before they are party men and that the jolts they gave each other during the campaign were wholly impersonal and but a part of the game of politics.

It is more and more evident to the serious minded of the country that Mr. Hoover is not going to be a purely party president, and that he is going to make the public interests and the welfare of his country his first and main concern.

To be educated every one must make a discovery of the world and things about him for himself. The fact that so many are not doing this makes of education a farce. We seek life through literature instead of studying literature and art through life. Speaking of the intelligentsia of his age, Jesus the Christ said they had eyes and saw not and ears and heard not. Are we not in large measure subject to the same caustic indictment? The Founder of Christianity did not write anything, and there was very little for him to read, and yet he gave us a wonderful philosophy of life. I am about to conclude that there is a woeful waste and misuse of books.—Candid Opinion.

After we reach a population of 5000, the next thousand will not be so difficult to get.

A born buck-passer is one who calls the result of his own folly "an act of Providence".

A PUBLIC SERVANT

The Sentinel is operated in the interests of Grenada and Grenada County but for the purpose of making a profit for the publishers.

To be successful in the prosecution of the best interests of the community this newspaper must accomplish the task of making money. To this end it relies upon two sources of revenue: subscriptions and advertising. The former come from its readers and the latter from the business interests that find advertising in our columns profitable.

Newspaper publishers generally have found that to be financially successful their newspapers must meet the popular expectation that a newspaper is a servant of the general public. They must serve this master, although their revenue comes from individuals who sometimes expect undue and impossible favors.

In operating The Sentinel we have always tried to serve, to the limit of our ability, the real interests of Grenada and Grenada County. Sometimes, it has been hard to see clearly just what these were, but as best we could, we have gone forward toward the goal. At the same time, we have set ourselves the task of giving to subscribers a real newspaper, interesting to read for its local news and stimulating to read for its editorials and other features.

By so doing we have secured a certain reader-interest, which becomes automatically attached to advertisements in these columns. The advertiser buys this reader interest when he purchasers space. It is of value, much more potent than the actual space that is purchased. It, too, has cost us money, just as real an expenditure as the physical printing of advertisements. The advertiser deserves the attention of our readers because his use of our columns, while a strict business investment, does help pay the cost of obtaining and holding reader interest, and makes our newspaper the more readable.

Now, some of our friends who are reading this editorial probably wonder why we say these things. The reason is plain: we want every subscriber and every advertiser to know about the conflicting interests that must be reconciled to make this paper a success, either for the best development of this section or the growth of itself into a more profitable business. That is our task, but we feel that we are entitled to the comforting assurance that the public understands our aims and our difficulties.

The Sentinel does not seek any support whatever on the basis of a charitable undertaking. It does not expect anyone to be either a subscriber or an advertiser out of sheer good will. It feels, however, that the public of this community, if it perceives the intrinsic value of a creditable newspaper, will realize that a positive value attaches to the possession of such a newspaper by any city or town.

Now, don't get the idea that we are disgruntled, or that any crisis impends for this journal. Rather not. We have always enjoyed the very fine support of the people of Grenada and Grenada County. We beg that they continue to give us a hand, but we want them to understand our limitations, that we can do more in future only if there is no slackening of public support. Given that, in good measure, there is no telling what can be accomplished.

EXPENDITURES FOR EDUCATION

The national bureau of education in giving out the latest tabulation on expenditures for education shows the following: That there was spent for elementary and high schools in 1926 $2,026,308,190 whereas in 1903 there was spent for the same purpose only $251,457,625. An increase for the period of over 800 per cent.

The report further shows that in 1926 there were 20,984,002 pupils enrolled in public and 2,143,100 in private elementary schools, 3,786,071 in public and 346,054 in private secondary schools, 252,907 in public and 17,209 in private teacher-training institutions, and 280,437 in public and 486,704 in private colleges and universities, excluding preparatory students. This gives a total of 28,296,484 pupils in such schools in the United States.

There were 977,291 teachers employed in these schools. The annual cost of maintaining them amounted to $2,744,979,689. The school property was valued at $8,125,085,472, which includes over one million dollars endowments.

Giving the rapid rise in costs of education, the report says: "The total cost of public elementary and high schools in 1903 was $251,457,625. By 1913 this amount had doubled, being $521,546,375; by 1920 it had doubled again, $1,036,151,209; and in 1926 it again doubled to $2,026,308,190.

"This doubling process promises not to continue indefinitely, since the increase in expenditures has been slowing down during the past two or three years. The cost per pupil in average daily attendance was $95.17 in 1924, $98.45 in 1925, and $102.05 in 1926. Expenditures per capita of population for these years are $10.25, $17.15, and $17.50.

"Only 25.7 per cent of the children fifteen to eighteen years of age dwelling in rural communities are enrolled in rural high school, whereas 71.1 per cent of the children of the same age group in urban communities are found in urban high schools. Thus nearly three times as large a proportion of city children go to high school as rural children. Rural dwellers cannot hope to compete advantageously with urban dwellers so long as their educational equipment is so generally inferior."

ENCOURAGING CRIME

Careless and stupidity on the part of the victims is responsible for much of the thieving and swindling which has reached such alarming proportions in this country, amounting to approximately two billions a year.

Some of the specific weaknesses of our "easy marks" are pointed out by a leading criminologist, who enumerates cashing checks for strangers, leaving automobiles unprotected, carrying unnecessarily large sums of money, buying real estate without seeing it or investigating its title, investing in stocks and schemes without consulting a banker, trying to beat gamblers at their own games, lending money and extending credit to persons of doubtful honesty, and so on.

If people fail to exercise any caution whatever in these matters, no law or official action can effectively protect them from thieves, swindlers and dead beats.

While the punishment of criminals often occurs, it usually happens too late to do the victim any good, so far as recovering his money or property is concerned.

Honest people have it in their own power to greatly reduce losses from the above mentioned causes, by merely exercising ordinary good judgment, instead of indulging in reckless practices which encourage crime.

Woman and an apple are credited with having been the founder of the clothing business—but today there is danger of the business coming to almost nothing.

Two hundred sixteen more people coming here to make their homes will give Grenada a population of an even 5000. Let's get them.

COMMON PURPOSE

Anthropologists tell us that man in his early state lived apart with his own little family, and archaeologists say the first communities were formed by confederated families brought together for a common purpose—protection against man's natural enemies. Today, man is distinctly a gregarious animal attracted more and more to community life. And men still build cities for a common purpose, or common purposes.

In the city one finds protection against fire, disease and the enemies of society. One goes to the city for good schools and monumental churches, paved streets, employment, art, entertainment, the society of other men and comforts of life denied the rural citizen. There is found the front rank of civilization.

The people of Grenada have a common purpose. It is the advancement of the community as a whole. That common purpose is hardly distinguishable from the purpose of each individual. That which benefits the individual usually benefits the entire community and that which benefits the community reacts to the benefit of each of its citizens.

Prosperity and progress come to those communities whose citizens have their eyes upon the largest number of common purposes. Success crowns the efforts of the man of purpose, and the city with a common purpose works as one man.

"Common purpose" creates new industries, increases business, minimizes unemployment, makes cities better places in which to live and performs miracles in community betterment.

Even a very light pat on the back can make the chest stick out.

Young People Entertain.

The Young People's department of the Methodist Sunday School entertained with a most enjoyable party honoring Mrs. John Nowell Estes, a recent bride and one of the officers of this department, Tuesday night, in the adult department of the church.

Mrs. J. H. Holder had charge of the entertainment and was ably assisted by Mesdames Paul Sisk, Frank Matthews and Morris Wells, teachers in the young people's department of the Sunday School.

Progressive contests were enjoyed by the ten tables of guests, each table having a different contest.

At the close of the games each boy wrote advice for Mr. Estes on "How to Manage a Wife", on miniature pink wedding bells, while the girls gave their advice to Mrs. Estes on how to manage a husband, this advice to be preserved in the bride's wedding book. Miss Rebecca Stokes then presented Mrs. Estes with a handsome silver water pitcher from the members of the department, with very appropriate remarks on their love, appreciation and high esteem of the honoree, with their best wishes for her happiness, "though married".

After a most entertaining evening molded salad sandwiches, crackers and hot chocolate were served the guests, during which appropriate victrola selections were played.

League Entertained.

Miss Hannah Ames, president of the Young People's Service League of All Saints Episcopal Church, entertained in a most pleasing manner, the members of the league with a lovely party last Friday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Ames.

Interesting games and contests were a most enjoyable part of the evening's entertainment and fortunes were given each guest, with souvenirs, wrapped in vari-colored crepe paper folders.

Mrs. Ames served delicious sandwiches and hot chocolate to the following young people who were present: Misses Constance Thompson, Mary Finney, Betty Sherwood, Eloise Wilkins, Mary Phelan Brown, Sarah Jane Tatum, Lucy Webb Sharp, Mary Alice and Emily Louise Kettle, Alice Margaret Weir, Mary Elsie Campbell, Martha Bess Brown and Jeanette Miller and Masters Frank Gerard, Dick Bradley, Sam C. Mims, Jr., Lawrence Olson and Gus Gerard and the councillors for the league, Mrs. Ada McCampbell, Miss Pond McCampbell and Mrs. Frank Gerard.

Mr. and Mrs. Ames assisted Miss Ames in entertaining the young people and saw that everyone had a most delightful time, one long to be remembered.

20th Century Club Meets

Tuesday afternoon Mrs. H. B. Spain, Mrs. C. C. Penn and Mrs. E. A. Penn were co-hostesses at a lovely social meeting of the Twentieth Century Club at the home of Mrs. Spain on Snider Street, with twenty-five guests present.

The following program was carried out:

Piano Solo, "Love's Awakening", Mrs. R. H. Herring; Vocal Solo, "Sonny Boy", Mrs. Frank Matthews, accompanied by Mrs. R. H. Herring at the piano; talk on "Self Culture", Miss Mildred Staves, English teacher at Grenada College; Piano Solo, "D Flat Minor", by Chopin, Miss Bess Ferguson, of Grenada College; four dialect readings, Miss Ruth Bale, head of the expression department of Grenada College; Vocal Solo, "The Swallows", Miss Allene Hardin, of Grenada College, accompanied by Miss Ione Mae Liller, of the college music department.

Mrs. D. N. McCleery and Mrs. Earl Bailey gave several piano selections during the serving of refreshments, a tempting salad course.

After a short business session the club adjourned to meet Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jack Sanderson on Line street.

King's Daughters Meet.

The Grenada circle of the King's Daughters met Monday afternoon in the ladies' rest room. After the scripture lesson led by Miss Kate Sadler, Mrs. Robert Sharp gave some very interesting items from the Silver Cross Magazine, which included the year's greetings from the international president.

The reports from the various committees were given as follows: Miss Jane Young, chairman of soliciting committee, reported the total amount donated including merchandise $469.40; Mrs. Henry Ray, chairman of the investigating committee, showed that more than usual aid had been given to white people in need.

Since November 12th, the total aid rendered in a financial way amounted to $241.17, with eighty persons in 26 families being provided with the necessities of life.

The meeting adjourned with repeating the Lord's Prayer in concert.

Substantial Reductions in the prices of the

DODGE BROTHERS SENIOR

WHEN THE NEW Dodge Brothers Six was announced, at the beginning of the new year, at prices so low as to overshadow any previous Dodge Brothers accomplishment, its universal public acceptance marked a new peak of popularity even for Dodge Brothers cars.

Public recognition was quickly translated into an unprecedented sales volume with an attendant increase in manufacturing efficiency and economy which now favorably affects its companion car—the Dodge Brothers Senior—and permits substantial reductions in the prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models.

The new lower prices at which the Dodge Brothers Senior henceforth will be sold are directly traceable to the established Chrysler policy of giving the public immediate benefit of every economy due to more efficient manufacturing methods, lower overhead costs and savings effected by the great unified purchasing power of Chrysler Motors.

Not only are these savings now passed on to the public in the form of much lower prices of all Dodge Brothers Senior models, but the cars themselves have been made still better.

Examine the Dodge Brothers Senior in your most critical mood. Scrutinize each small detail. Be most exacting in your inspection. For once you have subjected the Chrysler-built Dodge Brothers Senior to your most diligent and careful inspection you are certain to realize that never before has a car so large, so handsome and so fine been available at so low a price.

NEW LOWER PRICES: NOW $1495 to $1595, F. O. B. DETROIT

Get Up in The Morning Feeling

DIZZY

"I BEGAN to suffer with headache and biliousness," says Mr. John C. Malone, of Buena Vista, Ohio. "I had a hurting through the middle part of my body which seemed to come from indigestion. I would get constipated, and then feel all out of sorts. I would get up in the morning feeling dizzy, and everything I ate would disagree with me.

"Someone asked me why I did not try Black-Draught. I found it to be just the medicine I needed. When I feel a spell coming on, I begin by taking a dose of Black-Draught, dry, at night. I continue to take it for several days, and in a short while I am feeling fine. It is all the medicine I need."

Costs only 1 cent a dose.

25 YEARS AGO IN GRENADA

From the Files of THE GRENADA SENTINEL

Mr. Lew Mendenhall, who is superintending the putting in of the new wells at the power house, went to Memphis Wednesday and was married in that city the following day. He and his bride have returned to Grenada.

Rev. J. W. Field, who is studying under the pastor of the First Baptist church and assisting in the pastoral work of that church, preached at the regular evening service last Sunday. His sermon was earnest and forceful and proved acceptable to the audience. This young gentleman gives promise of usefulness in the ministry.

The Dixie Chapter, U. D. C. will meet with Mrs. A. T. Roane, Thursday, February 11. The following program will be rendered: Vocal Solo—Miss Annie Fay Dubard; Paper—Miss Myers; Instrumental Music—Miss Bransford; Reading—Miss Brown.

Mr. G. S. Harris and Miss Ruth Burte, of the vicinity of Cascilla, were married in Grenada Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mr. I. Cooper, the ceremony being performed by Esq. R. N. Crawford, in the presence of several friends who had accompanied them to Grenada. The marriage was a Gretna-Green affair, and because of the objections of the bride's parents, Grenada was selected by this young couple as a place sufficiently distant from such objections to render safe the consummation of love's young dream. These young people are of prominent families and are deserving of prosperity and happiness.

Mr. H. G. Leonard, the popular proprietor of the Hotel South, entertained the Grenada bar and visiting attorneys in an informal manner Thursday evening. Quite a number of the disciples of Blackstone were present, and as they sat around the festal board happy reminsicences were indulged in which proved a source of great pleasure to all present. A delightful menu was served. Many happy words of praise were tendered mine host upon his unique manner of entertainment.

Rev. W. M. McIntosh, of Oxford, and Mr. J. E. Mauldin, one of Minter City's prominent merchants, were in Grenada Tuesday on business.

Mr. H. B. Jacobs, of the firm of Jacobs & Klein, has been in Nashville, Tenn., the past week visiting his family who will accompany him on his return to Grenada.

Mr. P. A. Dulin, of Aberdeen, was in Grenada the first of the week visiting his mother and brother.

Mrs. Lucy King, of Brighton, Tenn., is visiting her father, Mr. J. H. Dulin, who we regret to state, is quite ill.

Mr. Chas. S. Tindall, a prominent young business man of Misterton, was in the city Thursday on business.

Mr. G. B. Jones was looking after business matters in Holly Springs Tuesday.

Mr. Chester Brown, of the large and enterprising mercantile house of J. H. Brown & Son, of Holcomb, spent several days in St. Louis this week purchasing goods. He is a fine young business man, as well as a pleasant and intelligent gentleman.

Great Bishop Talks About Moral Trend

everything from petty games about tables and the sports of schoolboys, to the size of the crops and the securities in the stock market. At this time a huge gamble is going on in New York which is so extensive that when the bubble bursts, as it must do soon, the whole nation will be shocked and the most disgraceful dishonesties will be disclosed by the consequences following the collapse which is inevitable.

Gambling of course is but a form of greed, midway between passive covetousness and active stealing. If to nouns were applied degree of comparison, as we do with adjectives, we might say most aptly and as accurately: "Positive covetousness, comparative gambling, superlative stealing."

Gambling is related to theft as dueling is to murder. In a duel each combatant risks his own life in order to take the life of the other, and in gambling each gambler takes a hazard on his own property in order to secure the property of the other without giving value received.

These crimes of greed and hate are the natural outcome of excessive opulence. Where wealth abounds men generally decay; and our country is amazingly rich. No nation on earth ever possessed as much and as eagerly yearned for more, as does the United States. These amazing accumulations harden the heart and inflame the passions. They impart a consciousness of power which often leads their owners to feel that they are above law and that they may defy law with impunity. Indeed, many such men of wealth are brazenly and truculently lawless, committing crimes and snapping their fingers in the face of the authorities who are commissioned to enforce law.

Is there a remedy for these appalling conditions? and if there is what may the remedy be?

In undertaking to answer these searching questions, one is met at once with the discouraging fact that in the past no nation once corrupted by excessive wealth has ever been cured. Luxury and consequent lawlessness, ending in national death, have been the course and end of all the excessively rich nations of which history has taken account. They all have died as suicides, their deaths arising from their self-inflicted demoralization and degeneration. So passed Egypt, Babylon, Nineveh, and the proud Empire of Rome.

The conditions which corrupted and overthrew them exist in our land in an alarming degree at this time; and we have but one force to correct them which those ancient kingdoms had not, namely, the Christian religion. But what will the Christian religion avail for our salvation if we refuse to accept it? The Christ was revealed to the Jews before their capital was taken and their Temple was destroyed; but they rejected him, and their nation, as a nation, perished. Does a similar sad fate, on a far larger scale, await the American people? Most certainly it does, if they refuse to accept the only remedy that is sufficient to avert the dreadful doom.

Even imprisoned criminals, when caused by their incarceration to think seriously, perceive that this is true.

Not long ago a most striking editorial was published in "Good Words," the official publication of the Federal penitentiary in Atlanta. The Editor, who is himself imprisoned there, entitled his article, "Crime, Its Cause and Remedy." Among the causes of crime he enumerated intoxicating liquors, dance halls, immodest dressing, immoral picture shows, corrupting books, lack of education, etc.

Evidently this complicated bundle of crime-infected evils cannot be corrected by mere reformers and reforms. The one evil of intoxicating liquors alone has been handled imperfectly and with results more or less disappointing notwithstanding wise and zealous efforts to eradicate it. What then shall we do in the face of all the other sources of crime? Obviously nothing less penetrating and potent than the Christian religion can save our crime-cursed nation.

To this conclusion the editor of "Good Words" comes, and he asserts it in these forceful words of ardent appeal to the people:

"Back to purity of standards of living, back to personal supervision of child by parents. Away from irreverence for all good things, away from booze parties, petting parties, lascivious literature, false standards of life and all that leads to them. When we accomplish these things, it will be more difficult for crime to flourish."

He does not overlook the evil of ignorance, nor depreciate the value of education, but sets up no claim for any cleansing power in mere culture. On the contrary he says:

"The unspeakable crimes of sexual perverts have rocked this nation with their repugnancy. They are very often hidden in character and quite frequently, are especially revolting. Yet many of these originated in homes of the most cultured environment, surrounded with every advantage of wealth and comfort."

Evidently the editor, who thus writes, is not without a considerable degree of intellectual culture; and he knows what it can and what it cannot do.

Clearly our country must choose between Christ and crime, between religion and ruin. This fact must be faced without delay.

Reformations are good as far as they go, but they do not go very far. Something deeper is required, and that which is needed is religion—religion in the home, in the school, and most of all in the heart.

And the only religion that can save the American people is the Christian religion. This great Republic is a nation founded by faith, and it must be saved by the same faith, if it is to be saved at all.

In the charter of every one of the original thirteen colonies "the propagation of the gospel" is enumerated among the objects to be accomplished by its founding.

So manifestly was the nation born of religion—and the Christian religion, of course—that M. de Tocqueville, the acute French commentator on "Democracy in America," said in his famous treatise, "religion gave birth to Anglo-American society."

It must live by the same life-giving power which gave it birth. If that force should be withdrawn or should be spent, the American nation would die—and die of heart-failure.

RETURNS TO AMERICA— GOLDEN VOICE TO THRILL MISSISSIPPIANS NEXT MONTH

ROSA RAISA

The World's Greatest Dramatic Soprano and Leading Prima Donna, Chicago Civic Opera Company

The celebrated critic, Edward Moore, of the Chicago Tribune is unstinted in his praise of Rosa Raisa's work in "Norma," Bellini's melodious gem of the operatic stage which comes to Mississippi on February 25th at the Jackson Municipal Auditorium with Miss Raisa in the difficult title role.

In part Mr. Moore enthusiastically says "Certainly no one for seasons past has received a greater ovation—"Norma" was written back in the days when singers wr singrse—now-a-days "Norma" is a rare performance—only when someone comes along like Ponselle or Raisa can it be given at all."

"Norma" on February 25th is the opening bill on the Jackson Grand Opera Association's 1929 season. Massenet's immortal "Thais" based on the Anatole France novel is scheduled for the second night February 26th, with none other than Mary Garden and with Cesare Formichi, "world's greatest singer," in the supporting cast and with the ballet and the 75-piece symphony orchestra as added features.

Already hundreds of Mississippians are making sure of securing choice seats by ordering tickets now from Treasurer S. S. Marks at Jackson.

The Value of Transportation

Producers are able to get more for the things they sell and consumers are able to pay less for the things they buy as a result of the service railroads perform.

Take producers first. The commercial value of any product depends upon transportation. Coal is of comparatively little value to the miner unless it can be transported from the mine. Wheat, cotton and livestock have a limited value to the farmer who produces them in large quantities until they are moved out into the channels of commerce. The same is true of the rest of the things that are produced for people to eat and wear and use in other ways. In fact, transportation gives, over and above all that is paid for it, just about all that is paid for it, just about all the value that any article of commerce has to the producer.

Then take consumers. Transporation makes widely available to people in all parts of the country whatever can be produced best and cheapest and in the largest quantities in any one of a few scattered areas. Because of efficient modern transportation many things are commonplace and cheap today which once were scarce and high priced.

Thus it follows that the value of good transportation to producers and consumers is far greater than the money that is paid for it. When this view is taken, there ought to be less opposition to allowing the railroads to have rates high enough to insure the public good transportation.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

RESUMES LECTURES ON HOLY LAND TOUR

of David, and it is notable as the birthplace of Joab, Asabel and Abishai, but it is preeminent from the fact that here the Saviour of the world was born. There is no question that Bethlehem was the birthplace of our Lord, and we have some reasonable assurance of the exact site. Justyn Martyr, born only a few years after the death of the Apostle John, speaks definitely of the birth occurring in a "certain cave close to the village of Bethlehem". A century later Origen states that the cave and manger were still shown. Eusebius and Jerome both attest the genuineness of his widespread belief. Thus two hundred years before the Basilica of Queen Helena was erected, this tradition had full sway.

Bethlehem is the cleanest city of Palestine, and the children here seem happier than in any other town. This was the only place in all Palestine we heard children singing, and saw them playing. Here we find artistic souvenirs made from shells, mother of pearl and olive wood, all manufactured here. A town with a population of about six thousand.

The outstanding place of interest here however is the

which was erected in 330 and it is generally believed that the Church now standing is practically the same building. This church lacks much of the tinsel and tawdry trapping which makes the Church of the Holy Sepulchre so offensive to the spiritual-minded traveler. When one sees this oldest Christian Church in the world, it is not at all difficult to believe himself near the spot where Jesus was born.

The interior of the Church has an impressive simplicity, a most cathedral-like effect being produced by a double row of forty-four monolithic columns with Corinthian capitals. The church is lighted by windows in the upper part. The entrance is made through a small door large enough for only one person at a time. This had to be done in order to handle the crowds on Christmas day, and to help keep order between the sects that worship here, viz: The Latin and Greek Churches and the Armenians. Each sect has its particular section of the church and they carefully guard against the other sects coming in their area.

By descending steps underneath the Altar, we come into the actual cave or grotto where it is believed that Christ was born. The exact spot of the birthplace of our Lord is marked by a silver star set in marble, over which there hang fifteen lamps that burn night and day, six of them belonging to the Greeks, five to the Armenians and four to the Latins. There is a great deal of ceremony connected with refilling these lamps with oil.

Retracing our steps we came out again into the sunlight and obtained fine views of the hills surrounding Bethlehem. After buying a few souvenirs we returned to Jerusalem for supper, and in high spirits as we were to have our greatest experience the next day. After a night's rest we hurried through breakfast, got our party together and started

Southward to Hebron

The day was a clear one but cold for this was in March, and in a high altitude. We passed shepherds on the hills with their herds, camel trains. We saw women with water jars balanced on their heads, a man with a filled goat-skin bottle slung over his shoulder. To our left we saw in a distance what looked to be large swimming pools, but on approaching these pools we found them to be Solomon's pools, which were built by Solomon thousands of years ago, used as reservoirs for the water supply of Jerusalem in his day. And even to this day one of these pools is used for an emergency water supply for the city. Finally we were entering the city of Hebron,

An Age Old City,

with a population today of about 20,000. This city was an old city when Abraham came and pitched his tent nearby. The scriptural allusions to it are extremely numerous including such familiar names as: Abraham, Sarah, Joshua Caleb Abner, David Absalom, Rehoboam, Jacob, Joseph and others. It was from Hebron Joseph was sent northward to his brothers, when they sold him as a slave. It was from Hebron that Jacob started on his migration to Egypt, and it was back here that his body was brought for burial. It was from this vicinty that the spies returned bringing with them a great cluster of grapes. Hebron was at one time one of the cities of Refuge. It was David's capital for seven years. But that which is of outstanding interest to us today is

The Cave of Machpelah

This cave is covered today by a Mosque with garrisoned walls surrounding it. Here Abraham, Sarah, Jacob, Leah, Isaac and Rebekah are buired (read Genesis 23.) And an accurate account of Abraham's purchase of this burial ground is given in Genesis. Up until 1925, outside of Mohammedans very few were allowed to enter this cave, or rather Mosque. Our party of four were the only Christians who were allowed to enter for the entire year, and we were told that we were the ninety-second, third, fourth and fifth Christians who had ever entered. We were very fortunate in forming a friendship with Mr. John D. Whiting on the boat who took passage from New York to Palestine. He was at that time at the head of the American Colony in Jerusalem and lived next door to The Mustapha, and was a close friend of his. The Mustapha alone could give permission for our entrance, but Mr. Whiting prevailed on him to allow us to enter the Mosque. The permissions given us covered two sheets of paper. As we approached the door of the Mosque two Soldiers pointed their murderous looking swords at us, and even after examining our permits they could not believe we had any business there, but as we presented each with an American dollar bill, they allowed us to enter. We had to go through this procedure at five doors before we finally entered the room under which the tombs were placed. Passing into the sacred interior we saw the cenotaphs of Abraham, Sarah, of Isaac and Rebekah, and of Jacob and Leah, each cenotaph covered with a great cloth richly embroidered in green and gold for the patriarchs and in crimson and gold for their wives, the star and crescent on each. Near the center of this interior on the floor was an iron door, surrounded by four soldiers with swords. This door was lifted and we had the thrilling experience of looking down below this floor and seeing the age-old tombs of these patriarchs and their wives. But we had to rush through the remaining sights as we were in stocking feet (no one is allowed to wear shoes inside a Mosque) and were getting very cold. As we descended the steps outside we saw a number of Jews slipping scraps of paper through a hole in the wall of the Mosque, these scraps containing written prayers to the patriarchs, this being their only means of reaching them as no Jew is allowed inside.

Around the Town.

Just after leaving the Mosque we saw a public oven. One child was taking a pan of dough to be baked while another was bringing out hot loaves. The families of Hebron are spoken of when denoting size by the number of loaves they use per week. A couple without children would be a five loaf family and so on. Here we saw the ancient glass-factory still using ancient methods for making beads and other articles, also the potter using his wheel and clay for making pottery. We saw the goat-skin bottle factory, where goat skins are tanned and made into water bottles.

(Next week we shall go to the Dead Sea, Jordan River and Jericho.)

They say that in the moon this goddess has a most beautiful castle. It is called the "Yuih-Koong"—Moon Palace. Only one human has ever seen its glories. Once, during the Dong Dynasty, a Chinese king, called Ming Wong, by the Magic of a holy monk, was enabled to mount up from the earth to the Moon Castle to hear the music and see its beauty. He was allowed to stand outside for only a very few minutes. By that time the goddess knew that the king of man was there. She was very angry at the monk for leading the king to her holy land. Soon from the Castle came most unpleasant sounds. The monk understood that it was the queen's giving vent to her wrath and he quickly led the king back to earth.

You can thus see how full of superstition the Chinese are and how they need the Gospel and Jesus Christ that they may see the real King in His beauty and live forever in His glorious palace High. It's a joy to teach Chinese children of Jesus and His salvation while young.

A Merry Christmas and a Blessed New Year to you and loved ones.

Yours in Christ's glad service,

SKYSCRAPERS 125 STORIES HIGH FORECAST; MYSTERY MATERIAL IS DEVELOPED

Chicago, Ill., Jan. 17.—Skyscrapers looming 125 stories high, a result made possible by a new building material just developed, are forecast in a bulletin just issued by the American Ceramic Society. This mystery material, developed by a young Chicago scientist, is made of clays, chemically and mechanically processed. It will be shown for the first time at the American Ceramic Exposition, the first ever held, which opens in Chicago on February 4.

This remarkable new building material, according to the bulletin, is lighter than water and will not absorb moisture. One piece of it has been heated to 3,250 degrees more than twenty times and plunged into ice-cold water after each heating without effect. That heat would melt steel. It is utterly fireproof, everlasting, has remarkable heat insulating values, will bear heavy loads, is capable of taking enamels and can be produced in every possible color.

Owing to its light weight, because it will thus relieve much stress, the small group of scientists who are familiar with it say it will reduce building costs in large steel buildings enormously. The American Ceramic Exposition will draw 2,500 men in the ceramic industry to Chicago and twelve organizations, every one directly identified with the industry, will hold national or state meetings in this city the week of the exposition.

More than $250,000 worth of America's finest chinaware, glass, pottery, stoneware and art products, besides building materials will be shown. The exposition will be open to the public.

Describes Moon Feast Observed By Chinese

there is a lady-god in the moon. Her name is Zaung-noo. She is said to be exceedingly beautiful. From the beginning of time to the end there never was nor will be one as beautiful as she. She was once upon a time a woman of this world; but became displeased with her husband and all the world and fled to the moon. On this 15th the real story of why she fled is acted out in the long theatrical plays attended by throngs of people. In ancient times on the 15th of the 8th month when they burned the incense bushel the sweet fragrance would go high up to the moon goddess. She took pleasure in it and manifested her approval by coming near earth riding on a cloud and people could see her beautiful face. But now men's hearts have become wicked, and the world is full of sin, so the incense is not so pure as formerly and it does not rise so high as to reach the goddess in her palace and so, not enjoying its fragrance, she comes no more on the clouds; but people still offer incense and

BRING ON YOUR PIGS, SAYS 11 YEAR OLD GEORGE HARRIS, WHO HOLDS ALL-TIME RECORD IN MISSISSIPPI TON LITTER CONTEST

A. & M. College, Miss., Jan. 31—George Harris, a 11 year old Montgomery County farm boy, who won the Ton Litter contest in 1927 with his 2,456 pound Duroc Poland litter, set a record that has not been beaten since the Ton Litter contest became a feature of district and state fairs four years ago. He is still challenging 4-H Club boys and adult farmers to produce a litter of pigs under regulations of the contest that will beat his record. The mark set by young Harris came near being reached last year by J. W. Graves of Ellisville who produced a litter of Duroc-Poland cross that weighed 2,447 at 180 days of age.

The Ton Litter contest, established as a feature of Mississippi fairs four years ago, has grown in popularity until the number of litters shown in 1928 was more than three times the number exhibited the first year. Liberal prizes are offered annually for the best litters shown at the district and state fairs to encourage further interest in economic pork production.

According to the rules and regulations governing the contests, a litter of pigs to be eligible, must weigh at least 2,000 pounds at 180 days of age. This contest is open to any farmer or club boy, and any breed of hogs may be used.

Dates for enrollment are Feb. 1 to April 30 and parties interested in entering litters in the 1929 contest are urged to enroll within that time.

Rules governing the contest and forms for records may be obtained from Paul F. Newell, Extension Animal Husbandman. A. & M. College, Miss., who will advise with entrants concerning feeding and caring for the litters.

SEEK TO LOCATE LONG

Is heroic James D. Long living quietly in this city or vicinity, blissfully unaware that the United States Army vainly seeks to honor him as it honored Colonel Lindbergh, Commander Byrd, and other victorious airmen?

On the theory that he is, Lieut. Col. Levi G. Brown, of the Army recruiting offices at Memphis, Tennessee, today appealed to the public to help locate the missing flyer.

Similar appeals are being made all over the United States by Army recruiting officers. Between them they hope to reach Long with word that he has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the Alaskan Flying Expedition back in 1920.

As a sergeant in the Army Air Service Long made a pioneer flight from Mitchel Field, Long Island, to Nome, Alaska and return. He was the assistant chief mechanic, mechanic, and observer of the pilot he accompanied.

The decoration which the Army officials are holding until Long's whereabouts is located was awarded him for "his splendid spirit of cooperation, perseverance, fortitude, courage and skill, which aided materially in the successful completion" of the flight.

Army records show that Long served throughout the World War, enlisting August 17, 1917. At that time his mother, Mrs. Mattie D. Long, lived at Denton, Maryland. When he was discharged as a sergeant in 1922 he gave his future address as Billings, Montana. Since the Flying Cross was awarded him on August 18, 1928, efforts to communicate with him have been unavailing.

COTTON GINNED PRIOR TO JANUARY 16 IN THE STATE

You Can't See Into The Future!

Nobody can! But the well-informed person can PREDICT coming events with fair assurance and can base his plans upon the wisdom of the present.

To be well informed you must follow the present trend of affairs as revealed in daily happenings in all fields of human endeavor, in all walks of life. The most insignificant appearing item is full of meaning for the observant.

To be well informed—
